FROM THE CEO'S DESK

Dear ACB Community,
It is with great pleasure and excitement that I welcome you to the latest edition of the Africa's Campus Battle Magazine, featuring the transformative experience of Season 5.

Africa's Campus Battle (ACB) is more than just a talent competition; it is a movement that empowers the vibrant youth of Africa to be catalysts for positive change. As we delve into the pages of this magazine, we embark on a journey that goes beyond captivating performances and exceptional talents. It's about unlocking the potential within our universities and harnessing the power of the youth to address the challenges of our time.

This season, ACB continues to be guided by the principles of the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) and in particular " SDG 3 Good Health and Well Being", providing a platform where creative minds converge to foster problem-solving and unveil groundbreaking solutions. Our commitment to co-creating a more sustainable future remains unwavering.

The heart of ACB lies in engaging the talented youth within our institutions of higher learning through the medium of performing arts. This unique approach not only showcases the diversity of talents but also underscores the immense potential for positive impact through creativity and innovation.

As you flip through the pages of this magazine, you will witness the extraordinary stories of young individuals who have embraced the ACB experience, using their talents to drive positive change. The competition serves as a catalyst for the emergence of innovative projects that tackle social and environmental challenges head-on.

Our aim is clear – to empower, inspire, and provide a platform for the youth to shine. Each performance, each project, and each participant contributes to the larger narrative of a more sustainable and empowered Africa.

I extend my gratitude to all the participants, organizers, mentors, judges, and supporters who make ACB a reality. Your dedication and passion fuel the success of this transformative experience.

As we celebrate the achievements of Season 5, let us look forward to the continued impact of ACB, and the positive change it brings to our communities and beyond.

Thank you for being part of the ACB journey. Together, we create a stage where talents meet transformation.
Warm Regards,

Everlyne Mutunga Ang'ila

MISSION | VISION | CORE VALUES

VISION

- To be Africa's most inclusive platform for the youth to co create a sustainable future through artistic expressions.

MISSION

- To empower and inspire the next generation of Africa's youth by providing a dynamic platform that uncovers and celebrates diverse artistic expressions within universities across the continent.

CORE VALUES

- Creativity: Encouraging innovative thinking and artistic expression.

SPARK THE CHANGE: AFRICA'S CAMPUS BATTLE IGNITES A SUSTAINABLE FUTURE THROUGH PERFORMANING ARTS

Imagine this: a stage pulsating with energy as slam poets tackle climate injustice with verses sharper than a Maasai warrior's spear. Witness dancers weave stories of community resilience with moves as fluid as the Zambezi. Hear musicians belt out anthems of environmental awareness that will make you want to hug a tree (metaphorically, of course, unless you're in the Namib desert – then hug a cactus!). This is ACB, where creativity becomes a superpower for good, transforming raw talent into solutions for the SDGs.

But this artistic revolution needs allies, heroes of a different kind – not wielding swords, but with hearts open to the power of art. By partnering with ACB, you become a champion for:

- Empowering the African Youth: You fuel the dreams of talented artists, providing a platform to shine, mentorship to hone their skills, and a launchpad for careers built on purpose and passion.
- Amplifying Voices That Matter: You give a megaphone to the perspectives of Africa's youth, their struggles, dreams, and solutions. ACB is about igniting conversations that shake the foundations of conventional narratives.
- Building Communities Thriving, Not Surviving: You invest in artistic projects that tackle real-world challenges, from promoting conservation through dance to fostering social harmony through music.

ACB's impact is undeniable:

- Global Reach: Over one million individuals connected across 12 countries, from Kenya to the Philippines, experiencing the power of art-driven solutions.
- Digital Footprint: a reach of 700,000+ on social media, creating a vibrant online community dedicated to positive change.
- Pan-African Network: Fostering regional unity and collaboration, building a powerful network of young creatives poised to shape Africa's future.
- Inclusive Engagement: Over 30,000 participants from physical events, joining a dynamic community that transcends physical boundaries.
- Investing in Talent: USD 5,000 in scholarships and cash prizes empowering young artists to pursue their dreams and contribute to a sustainable future.
- Collaborations for Impact: Artistic partnerships with established talent enriching the competition and infusing solutions with artistic expertise.

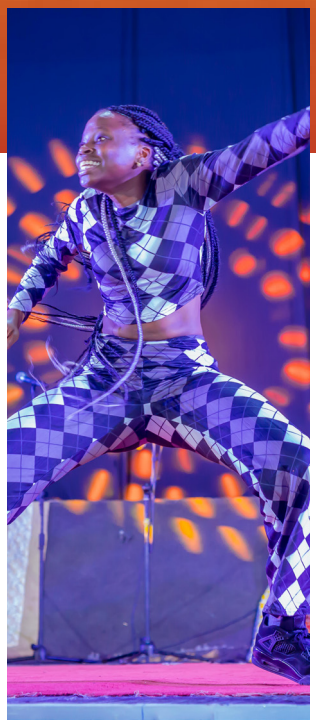

ACB is not just a competition; it's a movement, a celebration of creativity, and a call to action. Be a part of the change, invest in a sustainable future with Africa's Campus Battle, and let the beat for change begin!

KIZUDEH

WINNER ACB SEASON 5,
MULTIMEDIA UNIVERSITY

Can you start by telling us a bit about yourself and the talent that led you to win the university talent competition?
My name is Kizudeh Desmus. A spoken word artist and a third year student of Multimedia University of Kenya.

What motivated you to participate in the university talent competition?
ACB presented a platform that allowed me to speak to many and use my words to ignite change and resonate with a bigger audience. The platform also exposed my art to the world and gave me a chance to prove myself.

How did you prepare for the competition, both mentally and in terms of honing your talent?
It was not an easy task, I must say. Reason being I decided to give it the attention and dedication I thought it deserved. Competing with 7 other champions from other universities, to me, was not something to underrate, either way I managed and I'm very proud of this journey.

Can you share a memorable moment or experience from the competition that stands out to you?
The moment that we, the eight finalists, met and created a bond and a vibe that is still unbreakable even after the competition. Moments that the ACB staff checked on us just to be sure we're fine. We had so much fun together and there's so much I can say but to summarize it all, ACB season 5 was the best experience for me this year (2023).

Take us back to the moment your name was announced as the winner. What was going through your mind at that time?
Honestly speaking, I expected the best, but I was still nervous since it was a tough competition and everyone was a potential champion. The thought of missing that grand prize made restless and outwardly uneasy on that stage,but when my name was mentioned, it felt like a lifetime fortune and yes, the joy was unmeasurable.

How has winning the competition impacted you personally and in terms of your confidence?
Personally, it has boosted my confidence and as an artist it has positively impacted my sense of reasoning, thus growing my brand.

How did you discover your talent, and how has it evolved over time?
Actually someone, my friend back in primary school, discovered the talent in me and made me realize it. I have experienced growth over time but I always strive to be real, raw and original at all cost.

Are there any specific individuals or experiences that have influenced your talent and performance style?
There are several aspects and experiences in life that I've always felt they can only be defined, corrected, appreciated, complimented and expressed only through spoken word. However my style of performance is very original and no one has influenced, coached or defined it for me.

Have you faced any challenges on your journey to becoming a talent competition winner? How did you overcome them?
In everything, you will always face more challenges than the support you receive. You only need to be strong and maintain your focus and all will be fine.

In what ways do you feel you've grown as a performer since participating in the competition?
As a performer I have an assignment to keep developing and fine-tuning my skills, because I know hardwork beats talent if talent doesn't work hard.

What are your aspirations for the future in terms of your talent and performance?
I aspire to continue using words as canvas to paint pictures of emotions, perspectives and experiences to ignite change and make the world proud.

How do you balance your academic commitments with your passion for your talent?
Set your priorities right and do the right thing at the right time.

Has your academic studies influenced or inspired your talent in any way?
My academics do not really inspire or influence my talent but still they do not affect or distract my talent in any way.

What advice would you give to other students who aspire to participate in talent competitions or pursue their passions?
Never be discouraged. Compete and strive to defeat yourself. Embrace critiques and desire to grow.

Are there any key lessons you've learned that you would like to share with others?
Always be positive and always have a plan. Kitu ni kukachora 100%

ON HEALTH MATTERS

Youth is like a river; every stream of flow has fresh water but once downstream, it's gone, gone never to be seen or captured again. Young people are generally physically sound, athletic even, I dare say. We couldn't say the same for most of us now well beyond our 30s. It's a flash memory of the 'old good times' well reminisced! However, two key things tend to steal the dividends accrued from their youth: Mental health issues and sexual and reproductive health misadventures. Globally, 1 in every 5 (20%) young people suffer from one or more mental health disorders, among which include; mood disorders, anxiety disorders, relationship disorders and even depression.

These maybe related to societal expectations and pressures, broken relationships, academic challenges, indulgence in drug and substance use, low self-esteem as well as identity obscurity. The darkest cloud lies in suicide rates, with rates in Africa (11%) exceeding the global average (9%). In deed a dark continent, no pun intended! We can all support each other, celebrate each other, engage in constructive activities such as art, talent development, social programs as well as occasionally avoiding an apple a day so as not to keep the doctor away, when in need. We can all win together; we can all work and work together for better!

About sexual health misadventure! Ah this one is a hot potato; egg shells literally. From sexual indulgence, unprotected sexual safaris or should I call them odysseys; Africa is a young continent (literally) but we also want to adult things with reckless abandon. We are on the high gear while we should be engaging neutral or the 'park gear'.

It cannot be gainsaid that the eventualities of sexual misadventures include stress, anxiety, harassment, gender based violence against youths and adolescents. ..And why am I avoiding the big guys!!UNWANTED PREGNANCIES, SEXUALLY TRANSMITTED INFECTIONS and HIV. If we can't zip up, we can rubber it up guys! This decade, let us show more sexual responsibility and awareness as we match to reap the demographic dividends of our golden age!
